HOUSE, SENATE GROUP TO PLAN REMEDIAL LAWS

Legislation Needed as Result of U. S. Supreme Court Decision To Be Considered

RESOLUTION PREPARED

Attorney General Believes Ohio
Has Plenty of Enforcement Machinery

Marion, Mar. 9.—Decision was made here today that a resolution which had been introduced into the legislature to place legislation of a special joint legislative committee in the power to decide what to do with population, if any, will be presented during the present session.
The decision of the U. S. Supreme Court, which disqualifies mayors, and other public officials from trying liquor cases, was the reason.

Rep. Martin Dugan, Toledo Republican, introduced the bill in the house, today and it was voted into committee which he is expected to introduce this afternoon for a joint legislative committee of three senators and nine house members.

The committee would be selected by Rep. Earl Blumenau, presiding officer of the senate, and Speaker O. C.
Foster of the house. It was planned to have the bills and send them to the Senate in session in order that the committee can work at once.

Rock Solid Proposal

Legislative leaders proposed resolution that the situation should be left to a strictly judicial court and devoid of the wet-dry feature. It was of the opinion of the committee, because of their priorities, would be unable to handle the cases which heretofore have been taken care of by justices of peace.

A number of legislators heartily applauded Dugan's proposal, declaring that such some such plan as proposed by him will put into operation, the situation would develop into a purely wet-dry feature in connection with efforts of states to bring about enactment of the Marshall Bill, now pending in the senate, placing village mayors and justices of the peace on a salaried basis or some new measure, yet to be developed.

Plenty of Machinery

"There need be no apprehension relative to the powers of the proper courts to adequately enforce the protection laws," declared Attorney General Edward C. Turner.

Extensively discussing the effect of recent unanimous United States Supreme Court decision disqualifying village mayors from sitting as justices in case in which the judge has a personal pecuniary interest, Turner expressed the belief that Ohio has plenty of lawful machinery for the protection of bootleggers."

In the opinion of the attorney general that the dry laws of the Buckeye state are well-enforced.

Death: Mother, Baby Carried Out

Pittsburgh, Mar. 9.—The Moon Run Mining community near here early today was the scene of an outbreak marked by gunfire and dynamiting.

Two families living in an eight-room double frame house on property of the Pittsburgh Coal Co. miraculously escaped injury when two successive dynamite charges were exploded under the house shortly after midnight.

an infant were carried to safety, but that no one suffered injury.

SUNDAY DANCE BILL ON DAY'S SENATE CALENDAR

Vote Due on Hill Measure in Upper Legislative Branch

Included on the large calendar list of measures up for vote today in the State Senate in session at Columbus was the Hill Bill, seeking to prohibit public dances on Sundays, presented in the legislature some weeks ago by Representative H. E. Hill, Marion.

The author.

The measure came to the senate calendar after being voted out of the committee on villages at a session last week. Committee hearings on the bill were attended by both supporters and antagonists of the measure with many Marion persons being counted in the ranks of each of the opposing forces.

Representative Hill has been given considerable support in his efforts to have the measure passed by clergymen of several Ohio cities. Among the prominent factions opposing the bill are public dance operators over the state and business organizations including the Ohio Manufacturers' Association.

Along with the Hill Bill on the senate calendar for consideration today was the Kreuger Joint Resolution authorizing the appointment of a joint legislation committee to investigate and study agricultural laws and conditions with a view of determining and recommending "such needed legislation as could be helpful and necessary to the basic and highly important industry of agriculture."

CHINESE BREAK INTO AND LOOT CUSTOMS HOUSE

Foreign Women and Children Being Sent from Wuhu;

Men Ready To Leave

TROOPS MANEUVERING

Nationalists Plan To Launch Triple Attack on Three Fronts

Shanghai, Mar. 9.—A dangerous situation developed at Wuhu today when a Chinese mob broke open and looted the native customs house club. Foreign women and children are being sent from Wuhu to Shanghai and the foreign men are standing ready to withdraw from the city if the necessity arises.

The maneuvering of troops for the opening of the long awaited battle for the possession of Shanghai continues.

General Chang Teng-Chang, northern commander, has ordered heavy reinforcements from the north as a result of the revelation that the Nationalist plan to launch a triple attack on three fronts. Their object is to cut the Tsinpu-Shanghai and Nanking Lungtan railroads, thus cutting off the northern fronts.

Chang To Lead Attack

According to the plan, as revealed here, General Chang Kai-Shek, commander-in-chief of the Cantonese forces, will lead the attack on the center of the northern front, making a drive toward Nanking via Nanking. His object will be to capture the Tsingpu railroad.

General Yang Sun-Tsi will lead the west wing of the Cantonese in an attack on Soochow, via Hangchow, Chang-chow and Yingshing, and his objective will be the Shanghai-Nanking railroad.

General Yang Sun-Tsi will lead the east wing of the Cantonese from Hupeh through Ankwei, and his objective will be the Lungtan railroad.

Rushes Reinforcements

General An Ku-Chun, field commander of the northern forces, is rushing reinforcements to all positions by the three railroads. He is being aided by Sun Chuan-Fang troops, lately replaced by the Shang Tangites, who are carrying out the orders of Chang Tsung-Chang.

Chang Tsung Chang and Sun Chuan-Fang have jointly appointed General Pi Sho-Chen, Chang's principal lieutenant, to succeed General Lo Pao-Chang, whose wholesale executions so aroused the Shanghai inhabitants during the general strike, as defense commissioner of Shanghai. This indicates that Chang is supplanting Sun's subordinates with men of his own choosing.

COMPANIONS WORK DAY, NIGHT TO SAVE YOUTH

Thirty-Five Men Stroke Side, Bellows Fashion, To Keep Up Respiration

Evanston, Ill., Mar. 9.—Alfred Frick, 22, stricken with paralysis of the diaphragm, was being kept alive today by a volunteer corps of 35 men, working in relays of two each, who stroked his side, bellows fashion, to keep up respiration.

Should the man cease for one minute Young Frick would die. The patient has been thus kept alive for the past 65 hours. The volunteers, who work in 15 minute relays, are friends of the stricken youth who worked with him in the office of the Public Service Company.

Should he stop breathing, Frick is to be resuscitated by a glucose solution injected into his leg, a quart at a time. Physicians are hopeful that the cause of the paralysis may be discovered and remedied in time to save the young man's life. Meanwhile his heroic comrades have announced that they will continue the artificial respiration as long as there is a breath of life in the patient.

This arrangement is in accordance with an agreement reached by the producers and the International Association of Fire Chiefs, which is sponsoring the showing of the picture throughout the country. Under this agreement, the 10 per cent payment is contributed to either pension or indemnity funds for firemen in every city where the picture is presented.

"The Fire Brigade," which has been running steadily in New York City since its first showing there in December, is regarded by critics as the best fireman's picture ever produced.

The leading roles are taken by Charles Kay and May McAvoy.

The picture will be presented here the entire week of Mar. 21.

If you are sick and discouraged study this chart

Loss of appetite, loss of strength, skin disorders, rheumatism, that "tired-feeling" and other human ills may be due to your blood not having enough red cells.

Pathological laboratories do not depend upon guess-work. They have means by which they can count the number of red corpuscles in a drop of blood. Every cubic millimeter of the normal, healthy human blood should contain approximately 5,000,000 red corpuscles — those tiny red particles which flow along the blood stream, giving color to the blood, carrying nourishment to the cells, of the body, and working against disease.

Recently, in one of the pathological laboratories of our country, the skilled scientists made tests to determine whether S.S.S. really does what its proprietors claim for it; namely, whether it actually increases the number of red corpuscles in the blood. They secured a number of persons in a rundown condition, examined their blood and found the red corpuscles count low. Without letting the patients know what they were taking, they put them on a course of S.S.S., and made constant new counts to determine the result.

Science has found that S.S.S. does what is claimed for it

The particular chart shown above is of a patient who was so "run-down" that the corpuscle count was less than three and one-half million at the beginning, but who, on a six weeks course of S.S.S. regained his normal blood count.

Thousands of people have a low blood count—to this may be attributed "run-down" systems, pimples and boils, rheumatism, and even more serious ailments.

S.S.S. has a proved record of over 100 years

S.S.S. has been a blessing to millions of people who have taken advantage of its wonderful medicinal properties. There are no unproven theories about S.S.S. Each one of its several, selected ingredients has a distinct and particular purpose. An unusual and predominating feature about S.S.S. is that it is manufactured from the fresh herbs and barks, gathered from the forests and fields of Nature at the right season of the year when these particular herbs and barks are in the most favorable state for gathering.

The health-giving "juices" and extracts which are in S.S.S. have made it famous. For over 100 years it has served mankind in helping Nature build red blood corpuscles!

Get your blood right If you desire firm flesh, glowing complexion, energy, vitality and the blessing of good health you must keep your blood in good condition. You owe it to yourself and your family to keep your system in tone,—to avoid that run-down condition that so often results in serious disease and disability. From S.S.S. users comes our slogan.

"S.S.S. makes you feel like yourself again."

is sold at every good drug store in the United States. The larger size bottle is more economical. If you are troubled with so-called skin disorders, rheumatism, or have that "tired feeling," try a few bottles of S.S.S. Seek energy, vitality, and that longed-for endurance through the time-tried vegetable remedy Nature has provided. Why not start taking S.S.S. today?

Northwestern Railway Co. Planning Huge Yard To Keep Trains Out of Chicago

The Northwestern Railway Co. is planning to keep all its road freight trains out of Chicago according to S. E. Howells, traveling agent of the company, in Marion yesterday.

Incoming trains will be stopped and outgoing trains will be started in an enormous yard. The cost of the improvement is estimated at about $16,000,000 and will require approximately seven years to build. By April 1 the new office building at the yard will be completed and it is planned to have the freight transfer office ready by next fall.

When the project is completed all traffic between this yard and the city will be handled by switch trains. The yard will be located near the county line of Cook county, of which Chicago is part. It is located at a point where the Indiana Harbor Belt railroad connects with the Northwestern and where the latter company's outer belt, linking up its four radiating lines, connects with its Chicago Omaha line.

The yard contemplated will contain 250 miles of track, covering a length of five miles and an area of approximately 1,250 acres. It will comprise three inner sets of yards for the inbound and eastward moving freight and three sets for the westbound traffic, sufficient in track capacity for handling 6,000,000 cars eastward and 6,000 westward every 24 hours.

Living in Private House is Popular for Coolidges

Lack of Exclusiveness of No. 15 Dupont Circle Makes Hit with Multitude

WASHINGTON, Mar. 9.—Living in an ordinary house like other people, has popularized the Coolidges considerably already, though they've been doing it for only a few days.

The White House, when all's said and done, is an official residence where the president, his family, his personal staff, live peaceably and quietly in a roomy residence.

That's the idea. And that's a fact. But the average Washingtonian gets most of the respect of it.

If you go to the White House, you, too, are expected to do just what the Coolidges do. You're to go there formally, with a guide. You're to flatten your nose against one of the bars of the outer railing and peek in. You don't see anything if you do.

What's the Explanation, Sheriff?

We were unfeignedly sorry to learn, Tuesday, of the charge made by Bert W. Woodruff that a fine Airedale dog belonging to him had been shot by Sheriff James A. Deal within twenty-four hours after it had strayed from the Woodruff home. We were sorry because we naturally hate to see a fine dog killed, especially one so friendly as the dog in question, and sorry because the sheriff, so the charge made by Woodruff goes, did not wait the customary three days to permit the claiming of it by its owner.

According to Woodruff's statement, somebody stole the dog's collar and its license — the second one he had purchased for the dog this year — some time Sunday. The dog left the Woodruff home Monday morning. It is claimed that it was seen on the street Monday noon. In any event, some time between Monday morning and Tuesday morning the dog was picked up and shot, for Woodruff, in his search for it, found it dead in the county pound Tuesday morning.

Twice approached for a statement, the sheriff refused to say why he proceeded as he did. Surely Sheriff Deal owes it to the dog lovers of Marion, of whom there are many, to make explanation of why this dog was shot as it was. If he has some explanation, they will be glad to have it.

Menace of the Corn Borer.

A local citizen claims a record with our agricultural interests since farmers of this section of Ohio are suffering the awful wrath of the corn borer. He is exceedingly anxious in calling it an agricultural disaster. It is evidently the greatest menace with the ever-increasing agricultural products. And we hope he is right in holding that the farmers of this section do not adequately protect their crops. It is to them and to themselves. He might have gone further. He might have said that it is a measure to all the people of the country. Corn is one man's greatest crop.
Unless the advance of the corn borer is stayed, it will be lost to us in a short time, but the borer thrives upon sugar cane and grain cereals. It attacks cotton and sugar cane and tobacco and... In fact, in the absence of corn, it will attack almost anything in the growing line. When this is appreciated, it will be realized that it is a measure to the country as a whole. When the damage of the borer appreciated, we are satisfied that the farmers of this country would be as active in waging warfare upon it as are those in some parts of the northern section of the state.

Possibly they have been waiting for the government to take action. Possibly they have been placing reliance upon the quarantine established against the insect plague, not realizing that the quarantine simply delays the advance a bit, but does not stay it.

"The corn borer," says a writer in the Country Gentleman, "is a quiet personality, a sort of Jekyll and Hyde affair. In one stage it is an innocent little gray moth not so big as your two thumb nails.

In its other state it is the larva which batches from the eggs of this moth — a little, whitish worm, scarcely an inch long when matured, about as thick as the lead in a blue marking pencil, but as tough as a piece of grandmother's knitting needle. It bores into stalk or cob with the avidity of an electric drill.

There is no known way to fight these moths. They are inconspicuous, hide by day and fly at dusk to lay their 300 to 1,000 eggs.
They are carried for miles on winds. They can alight on water and then go on.

These borers can readily live over the winter if they can find a scrap of shelter. In stalks, cobs, weeds, under leaves, they can withstand winter cold. They can be carried in stalks or cobs down streams.

Incidentally, the borers are already over the watershed of the Ohio river in several places and next spring may see high waters carry them long distances, as tests made by the government show that slugs stalks have floated nearly 300 miles.

Since the borer spends nearly eleven months in the borer stage and nearly six months in stalks, stubble, cobs, weeds and refuse, here is the vulnerable spot for attacking it. The hope of control by immediate means lies in so handing farm operations and in cleaning up and destroying borer-infested material over winter and early spring, that as many as possible of the borers be destroyed.

The corn borer has been traced to Europe where the battle against it has been waged for years. That the European farmers have had more success in battling it is easily explained.
The Europeans have no such great tracts to cultivate as we do here. They know every inch of their land, and it is kept scrupulously clean. Their thrift leads them to this. They gather up stocks, cobs and stubble for fuel.
Another aid to the European farmer is had in the parasites which wage warfare upon the corn borer. Unfortunately, when the borer came across the Atlantic he did not bring these parasites along, although our government has since imported eleven species, two of which appear to thrive here. Then, too, the European farmer does not wage war upon the birds as we do here. He recognizes them as his friends and certain ones of the feathered tribe feed on the borer in both its forms.

How the borer got here has been told yesterday.
It is here. It has been in the New England states for the past ten years and here in Ohio for five. Ordinarily its progress has been comparatively slow, but last year it advanced across western Ohio, entirely across southern Michigan and covered a large district in Indiana. In ten years the borer has advanced southward and westward, till now we find it throughout New England, New York, Pennsylvania, northern West Virginia, northeast Ohio, southern Michigan and western Indiana, while the great corn belt of southern Ontario extending from Toronto to Windsor has simply been devastated. First found in New England ten years ago, today the country inflicted by the borer extends westward for 1,000 miles and embraces over 35,000 square miles of land.
You may be sure everything is all right.

"Mother Job" Is Best.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Every few days I meet a young mother. Her eyes sparkle and shine when she talks about the newborn baby. I saw such a mother a few days ago, and she was so enthusiastic about her youngster that everybody who heard her talk absorbed her enthusiasm.

I have often said that the mother job is the hardest job in the world. I believe this to be a fact, but if it is a hard job, it is the most satisfactory job in the world. To watch the growth, physical and mental, of a little baby is most fascinating.

How are you to know that your baby is progressing properly? You are so wrapped up in its welfare that you are willing to make any sacrifices for its good, and it is natural for every mother to wonder whether her baby is progressing as it should.

Clearance of the skin, brightness of the eyes, firmness of the flesh, and the general plumpness of the child, are very dependable signs that it is progressing as it should. But it isn't enough, is it, to depend upon what your eyes tell you? You would like to have some definite proof that everything is as it should be.

There is a sure way to know. The increasing weight of the child is an almost infallible sign of its satisfactory development.

A home where the baby is, is not a complete home unless there is to be found there an accurate pair of scales. You can't weigh a tiny baby with a pair of stillards. You may weigh an adult on the grain scales, but for a growing baby you have to have a special outfit.

It might seem like a foolish expenditure of money to buy such a pair of scales. Perhaps it may not be necessary to buy them. Your neighbor may have a pair, and she will gladly lend them to you because she will relish much pleasure she took in weighing her baby.

I know how good mothers are. They are always glad to help another mother in every possible way.
I recall a baby carriage which is stored in a part of our house. You can't weight a tiny baby with a pair of stillards. You may weigh an adult on the grain
special outfit.

Patrician features and bearing distinguish lovely Miss Betty Weil, 55 E. Washington Avenue, New York City. The critical taste, too, of the true gentlewoman is indicated by her preference for the exquisitely textured Black and White Face Powder, which is of such exceedingly high quality and excellence that the most fastidious women and girls in America are using more than 15 million packages a year of this lovely powder and the other Black and White Beauty Creations, such as the Cleansing Cream, Cold Cream, Peroxide (Vanishing) Cream, Beauty Bleach, etc., which you can get from dealers everywhere for the popular $6 and $10 prices.

Miss Weil says: "I was almost afraid to use face powder for fear it would coarsen my skin and make it look overpowered. Bright Future Seen for Hadfield-Penfield Plants

New Water Ordinances Presented to Mt. Gilead Village Council

NO AGREEMENT CONTROLS PLAN OF SERVICE NOW

Likely That Company Will Be Asked To Install Plant Improvements

Mt. Gilead. Mar. 9—Final solution of the present water trouble in Mt. Gilead came one step nearer at the meeting of the village council Monday night when ordinances were presented to the council providing a franchise and rate contract with the Mt. Gilead Water, Light, Heat & Power Co. At present there is neither a franchise or rate contract, on account of the expiration of the instrument some time ago.

The ordinances were drawn up by Attorney John Howard Gongwer, who was employed by the council to prepare the instruments. Mr. Gongwer is also principal of the local Senior High school.

Up to this time he has worked with the ordinance committee and has gone into the matter thoroughly, and provision will be made to insure an adequate water supply for both domestic consumption and fire protection.

The statement has been often made recently that several sections of the village are almost totally without fire protection.

The council expects to go over the matter thoroughly and will doubtless have the documents ready to submit to the company in the near future.

WHY MEN PREFER POPULAR CIGARS

Is it the uniform quality? Is it the aroma? Is it the blend? Experts themselves often disagree on what one feature makes a cigar popular.

What is the main reason for the growing demand for San Felice at 5¢? Is it the special combination of tobacco used? Is it the fragrance? or the smoothness? In our own factory there is a difference of opinion. What is your idea, Mr. Smoker? Try a San Felice today and tell us which of the cigar's qualities you consider responsible for its tremendous growth. Perhaps it is that mild, sedate cigar you are looking for. It costs only 5¢ to find out.

'Spring Glow' Title of School Operetta To Be Given Friday at Upper Sandusky

UPPER SANDUSKY. Mar. 9—A children's operetta "Spring Glow," by Fred Carran, Jack Frost and Dorothy Miner, will be presented by the primary and intermediate grades of the Upper Sandusky public schools under the direction of T. R. Evans, music instructor, Friday night in the auditorium of the Senior High school building.

A synopsis of the operetta shows the blizzard coming in to awaken the sleeping Pussy Willow, telling them that Spring is coming. They protest, shivering but finally wake up, sing and talk. Suddenly Jack Frost and his crew come in to plan a party in the fields, scaring the Pussy Willow, and deciding to freeze them as part of the fun. This is interrupted by the blizzard but they will not believe her when she announces the coming of Spring declaring they will not permit Spring to come.

They defy her and when Spring arrives capture her with her crown these are captured by Jack Frost and hidden in his ice cave. Various groups of spring people come to demand the maidens release and warn Jack Frost of punishment but he is still delirious until the Sunshine Fairies appear to check him.

Then the Brownies capture him and bring him to Spring who banishes him to the northland after which Spring is crowned by her people and all are happy.

Principal character parts will be played by Margaret Miner as Spring,

LARGE CROWD ATTENDS FIGHT AT KENTON CLUB

Plenty of Action and Knock-Out Feature Card of Four bouts

Kenton, Mar. 9—A knock-out and action feature was the second annual boxing show presented last night by the Kenton Lodge of Moose before a large crowd of fans.

Because of the success attending the two prior carnivals the lodge will in all probability make application for a club charter to conduct fight cards throughout the year under the supervision of a boxing commission to be named. Frank Lylez, chairman of the lodge boxing committee, said today.

Maxwell Winner

Four six-round fights comprised the card last night, "Chuck" Maxwell and Sailor Grant, both of Lima, figuring in the maingo. Though neither fighter spouted up their provided plenty of excitement. Young Maxwell, the cleverer of the two, out-pointed his man in practically every round.

Greatest excitement for the fans was furnished by Eddie Hammill of Peru, Ind. and Bus Kempe, Lima, who fought a draw. Both laid from the sound of the gong fought hard and in the final frames the bout resolved itself into a slugging match each taking and giving stiff punches. Kempe outpointed his man in the opening rounds while his opponent had the edge in the latter.

Knock Out

The kavos came in the curtain raiser when Noisy Hatchcock, Kenton, faced his opponent, Kit Carter, Lima, for the count in the fourth round of their scheduled six-round go. Neither of the colored fighters did much fighting until the third round when Hatchcock started mixing things. In the middle of the fourth Hatchcock rushed Carter landing a stiff right to the jaw. Carter went down for the count.

The three-round match between the battling Mayfields, brothers of Lima, won a great hand. Though small both youths gave a clever exhibition in boxing.

Of the many challenges given at the ring-side last night only one, that of Battling Mendeshell, Kenton, was accepted. He is to meet young Maxell next month in the next edition of the "Gleam."

Mrs. Shaefer was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Rettig and was born in Marion, in 1882. She attended the public schools of the city and has a large circle of friends.

Funeral services will be held from the United Brethren church Thursday at 2 o'clock with burial following in Fairview cemetery.

Surviving are the husband Albert M. Shaefer and three children, Mrs. Paul Frye, Anna, and Homer Shaefer of Marion; five sisters, Mrs. Charles Mackay, Mrs. Maggie Hessenauer, Galion; Mrs. William Burgett, Dayton; Mrs. Albert Walters, Toledo; Mrs. Barbara Nungesser, Crestline; and six brothers, Philip, Peter, George, and John Rettig, Marion; Adam and Henry Rettig, California.

Johnny Mostil, White Sox Center Fielder, Attempts Suicide in Camp

SHEREPOVET, Ia., Mar. 9.— Johnny Mostil, one of baseball's greatest ball players, today lies at the point of death, following what is believed to have been an attempt at suicide by the White Sox camp at the Yester Hotel here.

There were knife wounds in his left breast in the heart region, a dagger slice in his neck, razor cuts in both legs, and his left arm nearly severed when he was found in the apartment of Pat Prunty late yesterday.

Leaves Johnny Sleeping

When I left room 102 Johnny was sleeping soundly on my bed. I left the hotel and down on the outside as I stepped and was gone for only two hours. When I returned I experienced difficulty in getting him up on the sportsman. The boy had been removed from the outer edge of the door which had been locked tightly.

He then retired to his room, referred for Prunty,

I was compelled to rouse him. He was a master key. Finally I opened the door. A moment later I discovered pools of blood on the floor of his bedroom. Drawing open the door I was horrified to see Mostil hanging by the neck, his head facing downward, while his feet dangled over the edge of the bed and firmly anchored to the floor.

Each time was just repeating what they had been told about the White Sox camp, and that he had been attacked by the best and an inmate of Mercy Hospital for long and strong treatment for a long time.

Johnny played in ten games that season. Chisholm decided that he was not ready for the major and sent him to Milaca, Minn., where he played with the American Association team for two seasons.

In 1921 he returned to the White Sox. There he played in 100 games.

In 1922, year Mostil, who was married, was born living with his mother in Waukegan, Ill.

Bradenton, Fla., Mar. 9—With only three players missing a pitcher, an outfielder and an infielder, the Phillies' ball squad is rapidly rounding into shape. Attempts were to be made today to secure the signed contract of John Scott, the veteran pitcher obtained from the Giants. Leach, the absent outfielder, has been sick, while Wrightstone, the missing infielder, is expected the latter part of this week. The squad plays its first exhibition game Thursday.

GENE IS DELIGHTED

San Francisco, Mar. 9—Gene Tunney, heavyweight champion, today expressed delight when informed of report that Jack Dempsey, ex-champ, would return to the ring to fight any contender, if necessary, in order to secure a return battle for the title. Tunney declared that he thought Dempsey was his most dangerous rival and that he would be glad to meet him, or anyone else, in a title fight.

I was compelled to remain a full day with a master key. Finally I opened the door. A moment later I discovered pools of blood on the floor of his bedroom. Drawing open the door I was horrified to see Mostil hanging by the neck, his head facing downward, while his feet dangled over the edge of the bed and firmly anchored to the floor.

Each time was just repeating what they had been told about the White Sox camp, and that he had been attacked by the best and the fairest and fairest.

He died at 10:30 a.m. and his body was taken to the hospital. His body was removed to the mortuary. A funeral service will be held at 1 p.m. Saturday.

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Boyhood Adventures

BY JUDD MORTIMER LEWIS

I got out almost before I went down the rope and went out and got all the animals but the dog. And then we swiped Jubilee for me when I saw after we had played in the yard we were going to have a while because my grandfather had a rose bush in our yard. I would never tell what would happen if I was going to bring him for him to be here all the time. My father had told my mother to give him a ring of rose to slip over his hand and had come out and had trimmed the bushes, and then he had cut them down about eight feet and then he started for the bushes with a bunch of the cuttings in his right hand and holding it carefully because of the thorns. The minister came along reaching out to shake hands and did not punish us when we told her he was going to put the Me and Jubilee went to bed early.

Daily Bedtime Story

BY HOWARD GANIS

Uncle Wiggily and His Friends

"When you come home from school this afternoon, my dears," said Uncle Wiggily to his forty little rabbit boys and girls in the morning, "I shall have a game for you to play, and a little work for you to do also."

"Goodness!" said Jingle, "I like to play games!"

"And if you want me to work, like sweeping the snow off the front steps, or digging in some wood for the fire, I'll do that, and if you wanted to," said Humble, "a little rabbit boy, 'if you wanted to you could pay me for working.' Course you don't have to if you don't want to," he was kind enough to add.

"Ha! Ha!" laughed the bunny gentleman. "Well, well see about it. Hop along to school now. The work will not be very hard."

"And what sort of a game are we going to play?" asked Tumble, who was Humble's brother. Then he slipped and stumbled, falling down, which was done on account of his name.

"Yes, you'll see when you come home again," promised Uncle Wiggily. "It's you I'll be and he shook a paw at the little bunny boys and girls, "you must do well at your lessons. I shall telephone the Lady Mouse teacher to tell her that before you come back from class."

The little rabbit boys and girls were excited, wondering what sort of a game it would be, and what kind of work their Humbleus wanted them to do, so that they could hardly say their lessons. However they did fairly well, till when school was out they hurried to the little bungalow to find Uncle Wiggily waiting for them.

"Now the work you are to do," said Uncle Wiggily as he met the bunch of bunnies, "is to sweep some paths in the back yard so Nurse Jane can hang up the clothes tomorrow morning. There are so many of you it will not take long to make the paths." Some little snow had fallen in Woodland near the Orange Ice Mountains where Uncle Wiggily lived, and had covered the ground.

"I like to sweep snow!" exclaimed Carter, taking one of the brooms his father had made. The brooms were bushes and twigs tied on sticks!

"But what game are we to play?" said Jingle.

"Yes, what game?" added Tangle. "We could play tag in the snow," suggested Jingle.

"Or we could make snow cream with sugar in it and eat it," said Jangle.

"The game you are to play," said Uncle Wiggily, "is to find the first leaf with a green leaf of spring. It will soon be spring," he went on, "and perhaps, even now, there may be a little green leaf of clover or a green blade of grass beneath the snow. So sweep paths in the back yard. That will be work. And at the same time look under the snow for a green leaf. That will be a game. Whoever finds the first leaf will win the prize of a lollipop!"

"Oh, goodie!" cried all the little bunny boys and girls. With their brooms they began sweeping paths in the back yard so that Nurse Jane could hang up the clothes without getting her tail cold or wet. Bright eyes looked here and there for green leaves.

All of a sudden Baby Buntz shouted: "I've found it! I've found the first green leaf! Look!" As the others crowded around her the little orphan baby had swept away more snow and she had uncovered a large, green
